

Guy Jones

The Loop / Reagent Test UK | Manchester, UK

Guy Jones is a chemist by background who has leant his expertise to studying an area he feels is quite underexplored. After helping run welfare charity Psycare UK he saw a clear need to not just care for people who were having difficult experiences, but try to prevent these experiences happening in the first place. Frustrated by the inability for people in the UK to test their drugs, he became involved with The Loop in 2014. The work of The Loop's team allowed testing for the public for the first time in 2016. Guy now runs the lab operation which allows The Loop to give personalised advice to hundreds of people every day.
